

Want to learn about the Construction Permit Process?

Release Date: December 11, 2008

A course being offered by Middlesex County Community College entitled "Construction Permits: Understanding the Process" is being offered on January 27, 29 and February 3 from 6:30 to 9:30 PM at the Middlesex County Community College Campus. Instructor Anthony Scelsa has been in the industry for quite some time. Not only has Mr. Scelsa worked as a union carpenter but he has been involved in code enforcement for at least 15 years. The course is designed to educate the general public from homeowner to contractor and everything in between on the process of construction permits. The course number is JCDE 990-02 and can be found on page 65 of the Spring 2009 Non-Credit Course Catalog. Click on the link to view the information available from MCCC. http://www.middlesexcc.edu/profcom/images/SP09_nonCredit.pdf