Hillsborough to Host Business Summit

Encouraging Business Development Remains a Priority

Hillsborough's Mayor Frank DelCore shared more details about the upcoming Business Summit that was originally announced at last week's Economic and Business Development Networking Event. The Business Summit is set for Wednesday, March 27th at the Peter J. Biondi Municipal Building from 9am until noon.

"In our ongoing effort to be a business friendly community, the purpose of the business summit is to educate those who deal with the regulatory departments as to how the process should be followed to minimize any unnecessary delays in obtaining the required permits and authorizations to proceed with opening or renovating a business here in Hillsborough," commented Mayor Frank DelCore when announcing the details about the business summit.

"We are always looking to further enhance the business community and believe that by providing this opportunity for the businesses to meet with the officials to discuss any concerns or obstacles they are experiencing will only continue to foster a positive experience for our local businesses," added the Mayor.

The agenda set for the business summit kicks off at 9:00am on March 27th, with presentations scheduled by all areas of the Municipal Government including a question and answer period and breakout sessions with individual departments.
